

Artist Statement - Blessings in Disguise

By: Elena Desantis

Blessings in disguise is a video about the joy my grandmother and mother found while going through cancer. I hope it shows how fighting with your courage and leaving an example during scary situations can really affect you and the generations that follow you. This is a tribute to my grandmother who lives in me today. It is for my mother who fought bravely while losing her mother. I hope this video inspires others to find courage and strength as cancer affects so many people. I hope this video helps bring awareness to the importance of genetic testing. While we wait for a cure we must advocate for the future generations and strongly support those in their fight to beat cancer.
